

Beloved community,

I followed the traitor to the city of Ennui. I don't think, that Sethus will be able to feed from humans any longer, as the city guard seems quite capable. He already uses animals as his main blood source, which means I have to watch any butchers and cattle farms. But maybe I can skip all this: I have the suspicion he lives in a small hut south of the city. It's near the forest and none of his victims lived far away from there. I'll follow that hunch tomor